Position Information

About Us:

The Sonoma County Economic Development Board (EDB) is a small, dynamic government-agency involved with a broad range of public policy issues and innovative programs impacting bucolic Sonoma County, located at the threshold between the commerce-driven San Francisco Bay Area and the spectacular beauty of northern California. Spanning over 1,500 square miles, Sonoma County maintains a diverse economy that includes a world class wine region, stunning natural resources, and dozens of tourist destinations. The EDB is committed to the development of Sonoma County, providing services directed towards encouraging the startup, retention and expansion of Sonoma County businesses and jobs.

About the Position:

Project Coordinators are primarily responsible for developing and managing county-wide programs that support the local economic and employment bases. Work responsibilities include researching, surveying, and developing reports and databases on Sonoma County's various economic sectors. Project Coordinators conduct research on their respective sectors of the local economy and organize the research into reports and recommendations; coordinate advisory groups comprised of local business, government and community members; and may be asked to make presentations on economic and policy issues to various groups, including the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors, business trade groups, and community organizations.

This position is a great fit for someone who is a strong project manager, enjoys networking, values a convivial environment, and is excited about learning and building. Areas of interest might include Political Science/Politics, Economic Development, Economics, English, Government, History, International Policy, Law, Management, Business, Public Administration, Public Policy, Research, Social Policy, Technology, and Urban Policy.

For more information regarding EDB reports, events, and programs for which Project Coordinators are responsible, please visit www.sonomaedb.org.

Major Responsibilities and Duties:

Applicants should demonstrate excellent research, analytical, and writing skills; an interest in policy research and economic development; project management skills; exemplary communication, organization, and self-management abilities; and a commitment to public service.

This position is only open to applicants that obtain a Bachelors degree by June 2016. This is an entry-level position, no Masters or PhD students please.
